"I remember my dad taking a crew on several trips to the Lancaster, PA area, to do work for Ermon and Roy Beck, Sr., in the 1960's. As a boy, I went along on one of those trips and stayed with a school friend who had recently moved to Pennsylvania. Two decades later, as I worked with Roy on a number of projects, he became a gracious business mentor to me in the early part of my career."

History:

- Beck Industries Inc. manufactured industrial trailers, seamless welded tubing, steel beams, and frames. The company was founded in 1950 in Elkhart.
- The relationship between DJ and Beck Industries reaches as far back as the 1960s when DJ was still building homes and built Roy Beck, Sr.'s home on the St. Joe River in 1968.
- DJ, through the years, built virtually every building located on LaRue Drive.
- Beck Air assigned DJ to build its Beck Air Hangar at Elkhart Airport in 1983. In 1998, DJ returned to replace the original doors with rolling doors manufactured by Norco.
- DJ's final two residential construction services were with Beck's daughters, one in 1984 and the other in 1991. DJ also built a 5,000 square foot barn in 1995 on one of the properties.
