"I wasn't yet a fulltime employee at DJ when I drew office plans for the clinic. Our friendship with the Smuckers grew through the 1980s while Dr. Ernie Smucker treated my mother's cancer. Later, Jon and Jan Smucker asked for a second story to be added without interrupting first floor services. The structural complexity of the project compelled me to hire JC.... The Smuckers and Harleys remain friends of DJ today."

-Bob Schrock, CEO
DJ Construction

History:

- In 1979, DJ Construction designed and built a new one-story medical office in front of Goshen Hospital for Dr. Ernie Smucker.
- In 1986, DJ added a second floor to the facility, changing the structure of a building not originally designed for a second floor.
- DJ cared for the building through 2010, when Dr. Jon Smucker and Dr. John Harley both retired and sold their practice.
- The building is currently the home of IU Goshen Heart and Vascular, also renovated by DJ.
